

ABOUT FERTILIZERS or OPERATION EXTRA CLASS SHIT

(For the first time publicly - 05/05/2023 on 2 pages)

Over the years, I have walked dozens, if not hundreds of hectares of forest in different places and regions. But for all the years I meet only one place where elk, roe deer graze in such numbers that every 3-4 m there is a pile of shits.

The first time passed and as usual: "Do not pass!" And later, taking into account the fact that my parents keep greenhouses and pay for manure, I thought - yes, this is just extra shit, free of charge and with delivery. Later he returned, with a scoop, poked around and suffered, as a result he put on the 2nd gloves and in an hour he collected a package and gave it to the plants on the plantations. To date, after 4 seasons of COVID, I have never used this raw material from this plants. If the virus grows something, and it shows me what it will do to me, I can run for them, but as long as there is enough standard raw materials, I left the extra class crude to the local residents.

04/30/2023 decided to repeat. I began to walk, but there are single heaps + all the tracks on the trees are old, there are almost no new ones. Cap for  $\approx 1.9\text{m}$ . Yes, that's why. And then I realized how stupid I am. Last week (there is in the comments) the rain did not even let me drive up and I walked through the sawn-out forest plots. Now the rain has also passed, but I still came. And I ask myself the question: "How could animals graze nearby if there go felling forest?" And I stupidly press my plan for the second week. I said: "God, forgive me stupid" and went on to other things. So that you don't think that I tried to dodge, I took a photo, but I didn't start work, there was no point. Tomorrow I saw fresh heaps, it means that the animals know for whats they are risking.

There is such a joke-parable-reality. One grandmother asks the physician, do you know, son, why when I eat the same food, sometimes I poop with a cake, and sometimes with peas? He says no. And the grandmother answers him: "You see, you don't even understand anything in shit, but you climb inside my body." When I heard it, I laughed. But over the years of being in the forest, I remembered and began to solve this problem, and later I realized what kind of observation and how much knowledge is needed to explain this. Once there are facts, then there is a logical sequence of their appearance. So, the grandmother turned out to be right, sadly (below the consequences), but today judges, politicians and doctors do not even have principled competence in their own shit, but many at the same "know" how to "rationalize" the world for the "better". Show the measure/yardstick of your "happiness and health" it will be clear in advance where you will lead everyone. You can check on them yourself. If they had figured it out, they would have sounded the alarm for a long time about the fall in immunity and the growth of oncology in general, the gastrointestinal tract in particular, and, especially, the growth of pancreatic cancer, which was very rare in past years. And they would already be engaged in a real-specific healthy lifestyle, and not blah blah. Competence in immunity is directly and logically related to competence in shit, and for extra class results, you need extra class shit. Because I'm a profi at the immune effectiveness of natural raw materials, which there are no more in the world yet, because I have shit combined with the Standard Model of atoms, quantum physics and biochemistry. And I, our ancestors, didn't have to poop into a billion-dollar collider to bombard it with high-energy particles and live happier and healthier lives. And for those who humiliated and insulted me, considering me extra class shit, now no one can and will not be able to help restore health, there are no more near options. Treat yes, but restore no. There is not a single synthetic universal pharmaceutical product in the world that can prove to strengthen the immune and will not (there is a separate justification). Who punished them?

As for fertilizers. Here you need to be tied to the initial and geophysical parameters of the earth and the region. There is no universal recipe. To date, there are no industrial organic fertilizers of decent quality. I am not against inorganic ("vitamins" that even plants do not attract), chelated fertilizers, but there are many buts. I will only write a critierion that you can safely use in life: if flies do not land on your fertilizers, worms do not start in them, then this fertilizer is at least for fruits after 9 months (their pregnancy in the ground :-). No less!!! You can do less, but you have to be a specialist in this, otherwise you specifically and really risk the health of those who will use them, and modern analyzes of food products, not only do not show these risks, they allow them into the food industry (the very concept is nonsense).

Do you think "scientists" and "health care" leaders, who are not able to understand their own shit, diseases and vitamins, are able to hack the electron-quantum mitochondrial reactor? Prove you are capable. Okay, publicly present to everyone a concrete biochemical reasonable answer to the grandmother's question. So understandable that schoolchildren and ordinary people understand it - this is part of that "healthy lifestyle" that you kind of "care" by receiving payments "for no care". Didn't you know? At the same time, describe to everyone specifically what exactly you are "care" in people. Personally, I don't understand. You can ignore it, but I'm sure ailing taxpayers will soon be asking these questions to politicians and "health care" leaders, and watch out you don't end up in "chocolate." I won't be surprised if, after reading this, some, sensing the vulnerability of the chair, will tell their politicians to build a shit research institute, and then start bombing it in a collider with high-energy particles, creating anti-shit for "miracle annihilation".

If there is no specific public justification, with such principles and understanding, I as a doctor, I advise you to take off your white coat and start collecting shit, the results will be better, because your white coat is not a wrapper of True Health principles, but a wrapper of a "chocolate" candy of dubious quality. The white robe makes claims of angelic competence in God's terms, even the monks wear black! If you decide that you can flaunt in a white coat for years without knowing what happiness and health are, and think that you control your life limit, then it is better for you to volunteer to be a patient than God sends you there. All your ancestors, any summer resident and farmer will tell you: to have a lot of fruit, you need a lot of shit. Maybe judges, politicians, parliamentarians and lawyers wrote a law that increases the usefulness of products, ordered leukocytes to better serve their own body, synthesized and armed leukocytes with a "miracle weapon", created a democracy that increases the immunity and reliability of a non-existent "healthy lifestyle"? The global drop in immunity in the world, confirmed by COVID and the dynamics of the growth of immuno-metabolic and oncological diseases, indicates that all scientific human wisdom is still not enough even for shit! The question "why do we need knowledge in shit?" Will become relevant when you synthesize at least one universal drug that evidence-basedly enhances immunity. Otherwise, the above negative dynamics of diseases will gain momentum faster and faster. Moreover, I have a proven guarantee that no human will ever be able to create such a drug. There are more discoveries, but there are even more problems with normal quantas and with normal foods. Maybe it's time to publicly define the purpose and criteria for the use of discoveries? Or is the measure of cataclysms and diseases still small?

These are the conclusions that came out of the "joke" over the years after testing COVID. Funny? And many humorist end sadly because they often laugh at Truth and Its principles. No humorist has surpassed small children. So you learn from them - this is a recipe from consequences.

Friends call me doctor Dima, so be it.
As of the date of publication, the only professional extra-class in the world by shit :-)
